WE MAY regret bidding farewell to college days, when realization comes that for the last time we have walked, as a student, upon the college campus. But we are not leaving everything --we carry with us the impressions of a great work, of high ideals and aspirations--of education. Those are the impressions that remain with us when college life itself is but a series of dim and fleeting memories--those are the impressions which enable us to take our place and part in the world's daily work.

ADMINISTRATION

I M P R E S S I O N S

AS FRESHMEN, entering timidly into our first college classes, our professors loom up before our eyes, awe-inspiring creatures capable of making our school life a reign of terror, or years of pleasure. But we find as we progress that these self-same professors are really not so terrifying when our eyes become adjusted to our surroundings. We discover that they are always ready to lend a helping hand, and we come to realize that without the kindly help and interest of these men and women, our school life would be barren and unproductive.

Our administration is especially interesting to us this year because 1933 marks the twentieth year of

W. A. Lewis' presidency of our college. Under his administration, the enrollment has greatly increased, a number of new buildings have been erected on the campus, and the school's policies have continually been strengthened.

There are others at the head of our school who have worked hard in the interests of Fort Hays Kansas State College. By their efforts they have built our college up to its present good standing.

So, when as Seniors we leave this institution, we look upon our professors—not as ogres—but as kindly friends, always willing to help us, never trying to retard our progress.

Anniversary banquet honoring President Lewis

Our Faculty

WE present here snapshots of a few of our college faculty members.

President W. A. Lewis, in his twenty years reign as administrative head of our college, has demonstrated many times his executive ability. Through the expenditure of great personal efforts he has gained for the school the position it holds today.

Dr. C. E. Rarick, director of extension service, has, by his work among the high schools of Kansas, broadened the service of the school, and has carried to the high schools of the state information of the work of the Fort Hays Kansas State College.

Dr. R. R. Macgregor, head of the English department, has, by his advice and supervision, greatly benefited a number of literary aspirants who have come to this campus.

F. B. Lee, registrar and dean of the faculty, is well-known to every student. His activities are many and varied. Numerous are the students who have profited by his advice.

H. E. Malloy, head of the music department, has sponsored the annual Music Festival for many years. Through his efforts famous musical talent has been brought to our campus and made available to the students here.

Miss Elizabeth J. Agnew, dean of women, performs a wonderful service in her position as advisor to the women of our college.

Dr. Robert T. McGrath, a comparatively new member of our faculty, is head of the training school. By his capability, he has greatly strengthened and helped the department.

THE senior class of '33 is soon to bid good-bye to the campus. They will leave behind many impressions of tasks accomplished, of good work and fine records. And with them they will take, as they depart, many memories of their school days—memories to treasure in future years when those school days become a dim and distant unreality.

The seniors hand to their successors, the juniors, the prestige that accompanies the rank of senior. They wish them good luck and offer them good will. And the juniors anticipate the time when they shall be members of the most “dignified” group on the campus—the senior class.

To the sophomores, the juniors entrust the responsibility of carrying on the record of our school as revealed in the yearbook. It is a great responsibility, but a very worthwhile task.

And to the freshmen, by now experienced in the ways of campus life, the sophomores bequeath the right and privilege of making life a miserable burden for the next herd of newcomers to the campus. Be it theirs to handle wisely and well!

*Field Zoology Laboratory
Botany Laboratory
Nutrition Laboratory
Costume Designing Class*

THIS is a picture of a field zoology class on laboratory day. The general purpose of field zoology is to study how animals live. The subject around which the study centers is the word "adaptation." The creatures that can adapt themselves to their environment are the ones that survive. In this class, the habits, food, and home-building habits of various groups of animals are studied, as well as their relation to man and his welfare.

This picture is of a botany class laboratory. Botany has a twofold purpose: First, to acquaint the students with plants in general and study the two classes, flowering and non-flowering plants; second, to study plant behavior, structure, and function. In the spring and summer a study is made of the common wild flowers, commonly called weeds, analyzing, classifying, pressing, and making collections of them.

The third picture was taken during the feeding of the white rats used in nutrition class experiments. The nutrition class studies the function of food from the standpoint of its composition, digestion and its use in the body to meet the requirements of normal human nutrition. Experiments are performed upon white rats to show the effects of different diets upon them.

The costume designing class is here shown at work. This class makes a study of the fundamental principles of design and color theory as applied to dress, line, texture, and color suitable to different types. They make this study from the standpoint of adaptation of dress to the individual. The study of harmonious accessories is included.

Telescope in the Observatory

Chemistry Laboratory

THE College has reason to be justly proud of the telescope, shown above, which is installed in the Science building. The telescope is a ten-inch refractor made by E. Lohmann, of Greenville, Ohio. It weighs approximately 3,000 pounds. The accessories consist of a three-inch finder, a miniature switchboard attached to the eye-end of the instrument, three orthoscopic eye-pieces; two Huyghens eye-pieces, a zenith adapter, and an observation ladder. The maximum magnification possible is approximately 750 diameters. The material for motorizing the dome has arrived and will be installed shortly.

There are two courses offered in astronomy, one a descriptive course open to all students; the other a practical course open to those who have had descriptive astronomy, physics, and analytical geometry. The former course is a brief survey of the field of astronomy covering the moon, earth, planetary system, and stars, with some practice in observation. The latter course is designed particularly for mathematics and engineering students.

The above picture shows one of the chemistry laboratories of the College. In laboratories such as these, students prepare themselves to be commercial chemists, or teachers of chemistry, or prepare themselves for the study of home economics, botany, physiology, bacteriology, pharmacy, medicine, or engineering. The beginning courses in chemistry include a careful study of the fundamental principles of the science and an investigation of sources, methods of preparation, and uses of the more important elements and compounds.

It includes methods of taking and reducing observations to determine time, latitude, longitude, right ascension, and declination. In the observatory work, the students make their own observations and computations.

Since the opening of these courses, four eight-inch and five six-inch reflectors have been ground and mounted for observational purposes by students in this institution.

William Picken's and the Kids - - -

THE William Picken Training School has been on the college campus for only two years. Before that time it had, however, operated for two or three years on the campus for a period of six weeks only during the summer session.

The school is open to boys and girls of school age irrespective of residence. However, the number of pupils in each grade is limited. The school is organized on a departmental basis. Each department is in charge of a supervisor and her assistant teachers. These constitute the faculty for the department.

All the facilities of the college, such as the gymnasium, the swimming pool, the library, and the college laboratories are used by the pupils in the William Picken School just as they are used by the students in the college. The college physician and the college nurse give the same service to the pupils in this school as is given the regular college students. A school clinic and health inspection constitute a very definite part of the service given the pupils.

Memories of the Seniors

EACH year sees a new group of students graduating and leaving the campus, some perhaps never to return. These people leave vacancies that are possibly never quite filled. Each student, as he comes and goes, fills his own particular niche in the affairs of the school.

We are sorry not to be able to print snaps of each member of our graduating class, but that, of course, is impossible.

Next year we shall miss "Jimmie," who takes with him perhaps the only authentic southern brogue of which our campus can boast. Vyrl, by his cheery smile, and many activities, has won quick friendships and recognition. Carl will leave a big hole in both our football and basket ball teams. "Hunk" and Palmer are both well-known to students on the campus, and will be greatly missed when they leave. "Tommy" seems almost a permanent fixture. Effie and Louise are going to be missed by their many friends. Helen is well-known in her many activities and has made many friends who will miss her next year.

We regret losing them, but to these students, and to all others leaving our campus this year, we wish the best of success.

TIGERS TO MEET ANCIENT RIVALS

Can They Break Emporia's
Jinx Held over Them
Nine Years?

Tomorrow night at eight o'clock the fighting Tigers will meet the Emporia Teachers on Lewis Field. Coach Riley's crew will be facing a grave problem. In nine years of football relationships with the Yellowjackets of Emporia the Tigers have yet to win a game. Can this year's team break this jinx?

The battle tomorrow night should prove to be a good one with each team playing its opening game of its competing schedule, and the Tigers will be fighting to throw off that nine-year jinx.

INTRAMURALS

By Dan Lindsay

Winning their sixth consecutive victory Wednesday, Feb. 15, the Independent basketball team walked off with high honors and the jinx's share for the intramural basketball tournament.

By catching the final game from the strong Phi Sig aggregation, the Independents definitely avoided a three-way tie with the Sigma Tau's and the Phi Sig's. The various team's standings are as follows:

| TEAM | W | L | Pts. |
|-------------------|---|---|------|
| Independents | 6 | 0 | 115 |
| Sigma Tau Gamma | 5 | 1 | 80 |
| Phi Sigma Epsilon | 4 | 2 | 79 |
| Hadley's | 2 | 4 | 20 |
| Y. M. C. A. | 2 | 4 | 89 |
| Kappa Beta Tau | 1 | 5 | 49 |
| Phi Ma Alpha | 1 | 5 | 40 |

According to the point system followed in the intramural games each team receives 5 points for every game played, 10 points for every game won, and the winner is allocated an additional five points. Combining the soccer and basketball the teams have the following in points toward the Intramural trophy, which is now held by Phi Sig.

ing is next on the program for athletes. According to the director of intramural athletics, wrestling entries must be in by Feb. 26. The final line for fighting will be March 4, with the series starting in the second week of March.

EMPORIA GAMES THIS WEEK END

Hays Tigers Leave to Meet
Teachers and C. of E.
and Saturday

The Tiger quintet will play their second and third games on foreign courts when they attack the Emporia Teachers and Presbyterian at Emporia Friday and Saturday evening.

These will be the eleventh and twelfth in previous encounters with the Hornets the Tigers have engaged with in basketball. It has been a record with the Hornets in a series.

P H Y S I C A L

I M P R E S S I O N S

THE school year of 1932-33 saw the close of a season of competitive athletics which, while not as successful as was hoped at the beginning of the year, was satisfactory. The strength of any team depends to a large degree upon the coach. Fort Hays Kansas State College is fortunate in having some very fine coaches.

WILBUR "JACK" RILEY, head coach of the Tiger football squad, won many of his football games this year because of his ability to cooperate with all the boys. At the end of the season, records showed a great improvement over these of last year. If predictions are correct, "Jack" will have a squad next fall that will be hard to beat.

PAUL "BUSCH" GROSS, head coach of the Tiger basket ball team, and assistant football coach, produced a squad this season that made all the conference teams "look up and take notice." We must admit that the Tigers did not have the successful season that they had last year, but we must also admit that competition was keener this year than for several previous years. "Busch" is highly respected by all the student body, and with their cooperation should win first place in the conference next season with his squad.

JAMES "JIM" YEAGER, football line coach and instructor in physical education, is responsible for the great improvement in our Tiger line. The football squad admire "Jim" and are always willing to do as he says. He sponsors the program of intramural athletics on the campus.

Making the Teams

ATHLETICS bulk large in a program of physical activities. Track and field events, highly organized sports such as baseball, football, and basket ball, and athletic games calling for a considerable amount of physical exertion and utilizing the element of competition are highly important in the recreation program. Their value lies not only in the muscle development and in improved health, but in that training for leadership, for good sportsmanship and citizenship which is the ultimate aim of the athletic program.

Much detailed planning is involved in the athletic program. There are questions of classification, of schedule making, of methods of scoring, of testing for physical efficiency and of arranging for tournaments. All these practical considerations and many others are fundamental to the conduct of a successful program. Much more difficult of solution, however, are the problems involved in questions of professionalism and commercialism in amateur athletics and in the dangers threatening in the tendency to develop winning teams at all costs and star players rather than many participants of mediocre ability. These dangers are not bound up with any essential need of athletics but are outgrowths of the failure on the part of some authorities to make athletics a positive, constructive force in education. The recreation program in its athletic phases is concerned with providing a program for the amateur who plays for the love of the game and to whom sport is nothing more than an avocation. It is only through leadership that the moral values of athletics can be made a part of life.

Organization and leadership are the important factors in all sports. One who is an ideal leader should bring to his task the ability to develop leadership in others and the art of leading rather than directing. Boys and girls who wish to become active members in any sport should keep physically fit at all times and do all in their power to keep all the regulations given to them by their leader.

Intramurals

IN THE upper right hand corner we have the intramural champion basket ball team. They won nearly every game in which they participated. "Fuzzy" Enright, the manager, kept his men in perfect con-tion at all times.

Below is the intramural champion soccer team. Their playing showed that they kept themselves in perfect condition at all times. They were always on the go, fighting with all their might.

The Kappa Beta Tau fraternity were the winners of the intramural wrestling matches. They were fortunate in that they lost only a few of their matches. Their style of wrestling showed that they had trained very regularly.

RUSSELL SCHMITT, guard, has played his last year with the Tigers. He was often called "Stonewall" Schmitt, for to run up against him was like hitting a stone wall. "Jack" Riley will have to do a lot of scouting to find a man as valuable as Schmitt.

DENNIS MCKEE, guard, played his first year with the Tigers. He will be back for his second letter next year.

RENNIE ZEIGLER, tackle, received his second "K" this season. He adds strength to the line and never gives up fighting.

CARL THURLOW, end, has received his last punishment with the Tiger football squad. He seldom let an opponent get by, and his ability to catch passes added many yards to the Tiger gains. We only hope that the Tigers are able to find more men like Thurlow.

SYLVESTER PALMER, halfback, won his first "K" this season. His forty-yard run will never be forgotten.

JOHNNY BAKER, quarter, is expected to be a valuable man to the Tigers next fall.

ALEX FRANCIS, halfback, is known for his ability to pass and place-kick. If given half a chance he is nearly always successful with his kicks. Competing teams watch him closely.

WARD SHULL, fullback, co-captain for 1933, has been a great asset to the Tigers the past three seasons. He is expected to come back next fall, bigger and better than before.

ROBERT CASNER, halfback, will leave a space in the Tiger back-field that will be very difficult to fill. He is rated as the best blocking back in the conference.

DEAN SKAER, end, played his first year with the Tigers. He was one of the players who would never give up.

EDWARD BENDER, guard, received his first letter with the Tigers this fall. He brought the fans to their feet many times with his spectacular tackles.

ALBERT HAWKES, guard, earned his second letter this fall. Although he was caught fist-fighting in a number of games, he has proved to be a valuable asset to the Tiger squad. He will not be with the Tiger squad next fall.

FLOYD SEXTON, quarterback, played his first season this year. He is known as the star open-field runner of the conference. He was placed upon the first All-Conference team.

FLOYD McLANE, center, made his first letter this year. Next year should find him adding power to the tackle.

VERNON MOREMAN, tackle, a four-letter man, always gave all he had to win.

FRANK DREILING, center, is a steady, consistent player. He is expected to add power to the 1933 squad. He was found fighting all the time.

"TINE" HARBAUGH, end, received his fourth letter this year. His four years of service to the Tigers will never be forgotten. His ability to catch passes added many yards to Tiger gains. "Tine" was placed upon the second All-Conference team and was co-captain for the 1932 squad.

HAROLD BROWN, tackle, earned his first letter this season. He will be a valuable man next year.

JESS WOODRUFF, quarterback, is known for his flashy side-stepping. This is his last year and he will be missed by the 1933 squad. Jess could take it on the chin and smile.

WOODROW REINHOLD, tackle, is a steady, consistent player, and will be in action for the Tigers next year.

MERVIN WILSON, guard, will not be back with the Tiger squad next fall, and to find a man to fill his position will be very difficult. Wilson was never very talkative, but made up for it with his fighting ability.

ARTHUR ROGERS, guard, served most of nearly every game. When a weak spot was found, Arthur was called upon to stop the plays, and always succeeded in doing so. He is planning to be with the squad again next year.

LAWRENCE MYERS, tackle, served his third year with the Tigers. "Red" could always be relied upon to keep up the old spirit.

RAY MORTON, halfback, received his second "K" this fall. His ability to shift will add power to the Tiger line-up next year.

WILLIAM BEARLEY, fullback, is known as the spirit of the squad and will be a very valuable man next fall. He has taken some hard knocks, but always came up with a smile.

WILLIAM LARSON, guard, is the largest man on the team and when he hits they know it.

Top row—SHULL, FRANCIS, MOREMAN, REINHOLD, McLANE, LARSON, MYERS, HARBAUGH, PALMER, SKAER.

Second row—SCHMITT, LANE, ZEIGLER, BENDER, BAKER, McKEE, H. BROWN, MORTON, V. BROWN.

Third row—Head Coach RILEY, BEARLEY, DREILING, SEXTON, WILSON, WOODRUFF, ROGERS, CASNER, Assistant Coach YEAGER.

Playing in one of the fastest conferences in the middle west, Coach Riley's team won four of their nine games this year.

One of the high lights of the season was the victory over Emporia Teachers, the first for the Tigers in ten years of football relationship with the Hornets.

Two out-of-state games were played, with one victory and one defeat. The Greeley Colorado Teachers, one of the strongest teams in Colorado last season, eked out a 7 to 0 victory in the first game of the season, played at Greeley, Colorado.

The Cagers

THE basket ball team, which is under the tutelage of Coach "Busch" Gross, failed to place among the first three of the conference leaders this year. However, the team's play at different times during the season was almost sensational. At other times, when the offensive failed to function, the Tigers lost to teams weaker than they. In spite of the fact that the Tigers failed to win the cage championship, they were feared by every opponent in the conference. During the season nineteen games were played, the Tigers winning nine and losing ten. The season can be summed up in a few words. The Tigers' defensive was one of the best in the conference. The erratic playing of the offensive was all that kept them from a conference title.

CAPTAIN

Norman Lietzke, guard, played his third year with the Tigers this season. He has added many points to the Tiger score card. He will be with the squad again next year. He was captain of the squad this season.

ROBERT CASNER, forward, played his first and last year with the Tigers this season. He is considered one of the best forwards ever to play on the Tiger squad. He is an all-round athlete, and always gave all he had to win.

FLOYD SEXTON, forward, played his first year with the Tigers this season. Casner and Sexton work together very smoothly. Sexton will be with the squad next year with more power than ever.

CARL THURLOW, guard, is known for his ability to think out plays. His quick thinking won many of the games this season. Thurlow received a place upon the All-Conference team this season. A guard to fill Thurlow's position will be almost impossible to find.

LAWRENCE RARICK, forward, played his last season with the Tigers and will leave a hole in the 1933 squad that will be hard to fill.

BASKET BALL ● ●

WADE MORIARTY, guard, was a reserve guard this year but proved himself an asset to the Tiger squad whenever given the opportunity.

HOWARD LAMOREUX, center, added spirit to the squad and always kept an eagle eye on his opponent. He will be with the squad again next year. He was elected captain of the 1933 team.

MERLIN WILKINSON, forward, is known as the "one-hand man" for he seldom misses his one-hand shots.

HERMAN SCHWARTZKOPF, center, played his first year with the Tigers this season. He proved his ability to be a member of the Tiger squad in the first two games of the season.

DEAN SKAER, guard, played with the Tiger squad for the first time this season. He was unable to play in a number of the games this year, but will be valuable to the 1933 squad.

Track

BBROWN, low hurdles and dash, is known for his quick start and smooth stride.

CASNER, 440, 880, will be especially remembered for the number of points he has won for Fort Hays.

NEVE, hurdles, is a sophomore and is expected to aid in winning many points for the track team next year.

SCHWARTZKOPF, pole vault and high jump, with a year's experience will no doubt add many points to the list.

HUNT, 880, and the mile, is expected to be a great asset to the team next year.

LAMOREUX, pole vault and high jump, fits right into the team as one of the men to build up the average.

RUNYAN, javelin, is an inexperienced man, but will no doubt be one of the outstanding men on the track team next year.

Hoover, pole vault and high jump, is only a freshman, but with experience will prove to be an outstanding track man.

SOLOMON, 440, 880, will be with us again next year. He is known for keeping close tab on training rules.

Tennis and Golf

RUNYAN and BARCLAY, freshmen, are members of the tennis team. They were unable to win first title this year, but are very crafty with the racket and will undoubtedly aid a great deal in the winning of the conference tennis championship next year.

FRIEND and WICKIZER, members of the tennis team, have proved themselves capable of holding first place in the conference this year. They took both the singles and the doubles against the College of Emporia.

WORTHINGTON and PALMER think there is nothing like playing a round of golf. Worthington's score is usually between 36 and 38—Palmer's score is usually about the same. They could no doubt give stiff competition in the conference.

One of the most popular of spring sports on the campus is horseshoes. Many of the tedious hours between classes are whiled away at this pleasant pastime. Last year the horseshoe tournament was won by Wade Moriarty and Jess Woodruff.

Major Club

Women's Athletic Association

THE Major Club consists of majors and minors in women's physical education. It sponsors horseback riding and camping and assists in carrying out the physical education program of the college. Martha Wylie is president of the Major Club.

The local organization of the Women's Athletic Association sponsors an athletic program for women, emphasizing both team and individual sports. Each spring the W. A. A. holds an invitation Play Day for high school girls in Western Kansas, with a program based on play and health rather than competition. Mildred Schlyer heads the W. A. A. this year.

The extra-curricular sports program, under the direction of the Women's Athletic Association, consists of an intramural program with hockey and basket ball as the major sports. Intramural tennis, speedball, baseball, tenekoits, and horseshoe contests are also held.

Freshmen physical education classes have a sports program consisting of soccer, swimming, and hit-pin baseball.

The Duck Club is an honorary swimming organization maintaining a minor group, called the Ducklings, who have passed only the preliminary test. Each spring the Duck Club presents a water festival, including formation swimming, life-saving demonstrations, and musical and dramatic water performances.

Mr. A. T. McCue, Red Cross life-saving representative, administers Red Cross tests for life-saving badges to large classes each year. The present life-saving corps is: Virginia McFarland, Edith Palmer, Yuba Hunsley, Henrietta Giebler, Maurine Hunsley, Virginia Maxwell, Margaret Nicholas, Mary E. Reed, Rena Reed, Katherine Rhoades, Mildred Schlyer, Lucile Tichenor, Helen Wheat, and Ida Marie Wickizer.

Orchesus

THE women's physical education department includes classes in national, character, folk, clog, and interpretive dancing in its regular schedule. It also maintains an honorary dancing club— Orchesus.

The biggest program for the year was presented in connection with the opera "Lucia di Lammermoor", when sixteen girls from the department took part in a court dance and interpreted "Dance of the Hours" from the opera "Giaconda", featuring Nora King as the sun and Maurine Faulkner as the evening star.

The "K" Club

THERE are forty-one active members of the "K" Club on the campus. Their purpose is to assist in the sponsoring of good, clean, and healthful activities. During such occasions as the annual spring high school basket ball tournament, held at the college, the members of the "K" Club play a large part in conducting the programs.

Membership is earned by winning a letter in inter-collegiate competition in either major or minor sports.

"CHIEF" WILKINSON, forward for the Tiger basket ball squad, is known for his excellent one-hand shots. He was placed upon the second All-Conference team last year. "Chief" is only a junior and is expected to do big things for the Tigers next year.

EDITH PALMER was elected All-Round girl by the Women's Athletic Association last spring. This means that she was superior in many lines of activity. Edith was one of the cheer leaders this year, also.

"COCKY" SEXTON, quarterback for the Tiger football team, was placed upon the first All-Conference team this year. He is a junior, and no doubt will be an outstanding man on the squad next fall.

CARL THURLOW, guard for the basket ball team, and end on the football squad this year, was placed upon the first All-Conference teams the past two years, and is rated as one of the best basket ball men in the state.

FORT HAYS Kansas State College has a very strong music department. For a number of years, it has sponsored a Music Festival in which students from a number of high schools in this section of the state participate.

Each spring the girls' and boys' glee clubs of this college make a concert tour to various surrounding towns. The response to these tours has been pleasing. The glee clubs give very fine concerts.

Band and orchestra are two of the leading activities on the campus.

The orchestra is directed by Professor H. E. Malloy; the band by Professor Frederic Green.

The Fort Hays Kansas State College has been fortunate in securing noted artists to appear on our campus. Such artists as Madame Schumann-Heink, Rosa Ponselle, and Toscha Seidel have appeared before the student body of our college. This year, students and town people were privileged to hear the opera, "Lucia di Lammermoor."

THE Women's Quartette has appeared before several civic organizations in Hays, as the Rotary Club, the Lions Club, and the Chamber of Commerce. They also made a trip to Norton, where they sang before the Norton Chamber of Commerce.

The Men's Quartette is an important feature on the men's glee club programs. We are very fortunate in having two very fine quartettes this year.

The String Quartette is the first of its kind that we have ever had on this campus, and we have reason to be justly proud of it. The String Quartette and Women's Quartette broadcast over the radio at Dodge City when on a Kansas State Teachers Association program at that city in November.

Music - Dance - Dramatics

THERE are certain individuals who are prominent in different activities on the campus. One of these is Harold Palmer, who is the director of the William Picken Training School band. Another individual prominent because of her musical ability is Ida Marie Wickizer. Ida Marie sang the part of Lucia in the opera "Lucia di Lammermoor" which was given on April twenty-fifth of this year.

We have few opportunities to observe the dramatic ability which we may have within our group of students. We wish, however, to congratulate Orvis Grout upon his splendid performance in "The Valiant." That performance showed that he has the ability of a real actor.

We have often been entertained in assemblies this year by programs given by the girls from the dancing classes. We commend in particular the dances by Mildred Schlyer and Maurine Faulkner, and those by Mildred Schlyer and Helen Fritts.

On the Stage

THE Christmas Pageant, "The Other Half," by Charlotte Remick, was presented in Student Assembly on December twenty-first.

The Pageant represented a street scene before a church during a vesper service on Christmas Eve. The spirit of Christmas had flooded the church with light and as the people of the world passed by, they, too, caught the atmosphere from the light and song radiated from the shrine. Reverently they entered to join in the singing and to feel again the spirit of that Holy Night.

The Pageant was very ably directed by Katherine Rhoades. The success of the Pageant was due, in a large measure, to the co-operation of the people working with Miss Rhoades.

It is hoped that the Pageant may be made an annual affair.

DEPARTMENTAL

IMPRESSIONS

GOING to college could be a deadly routine if it meant just spending so many hours in so many buildings each day, but it means more than that. We absorb the traditions of the school and acquire a certain pride in its activities. Because of that pride, we follow with interest the participation of our school in inter-collegiate activities. We feel a personal glory if our school turns out a winning basket ball or football team. We often forget that our teams are largely what the students back of them make them; that by our whole-hearted support we can encourage those teams to greater effort and achievement. To lead the student body in that support the Pep Club was organized. Its aim is the promotion of spirit and enthusiasm at all college contests. Membership is open to all those students interested in the activities of such an organization.

The Power of the Press

WALLERSTEDT

THE print shop plays a powerful part in the affairs of the college. It is here that much of the publicity that goes out to the high schools of the state, is printed; it is here the Aerend is printed; and it is here that the Leader takes its final form. Walter Wallerstedt is the very capable "boss" of the department, and is assisted by Ralph McGimsey.

As Mr. Wallerstedt so kindly helped all Leader staffs, he helped the Press Club in putting out the Commencement issue of the Leader. The Press Club is a group of students majoring or minoring in Journalism who write for the college publications.

Campus Publications

OF the three campus publications, two only are edited by students.

The Reveille, the yearbook, is the annual publication of the Junior class and presents a volume that exemplifies the character of the student body and reflects the atmosphere of the school as it is day by day.

The Leader is the weekly student newspaper edited through the Department of Journalism. It is a student publication which aims to present a weekly picture of the campus life. It strives for the betterment of student activities and the promotion of good will, and is the medium through which alumni may keep in touch with the college.

The Aerend, a literary magazine published quarterly, was founded by a group of faculty members and students in the autumn of 1929. It is composed of prose and poetry written by students and faculty members, to which all students are invited to contribute. It is published by The Quill Club, and is edited by Dr. R. R. Macgregor.

THE Reveille is published by the junior class although some members of the staff are sophomores who must shoulder the responsibility of the following year's book.

Forensics

DEBATE and oratory is a course for students who wish to qualify for participation in intercollegiate contests.

This college is a member of the Kansas Debate Association and has a chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, a national forensic fraternity.

This year the members of the debate squads are: Edgar King, Logan; Vester Davidson, Hays; Vernon Clover, Hays; Charles Wilcox, Salina; Elizabeth Eppstein, Great Bend; Winifred McCoy, St. John; Yuba Hunsley, Larned; Maurine Faulkner, Great Bend.

December 2 and 3, the Fort Hays boys' team, King and Davidson, won second place in the largest college pre-season debate tourney in the United States, held at Winfield, in which there were fifty-three colleges from seven states represented. King and Davidson ranked in the upper one-third in the two major senior college tournaments, and in the junior college tournament they won every debate in which they participated.

At the Kansas Province tournament, held at Emporia, March 30-31 and April 1, in which there were twenty-one men's teams and fifteen women's teams entered, the Fort Hays boys' team won the first four rounds and lost in the fifth round to Wichita University. The Fort Hays girls' team won two debates and lost in the fifth round to Wesleyan University. Charles Wilcox was an extempore speaking entry at the Emporia forensic meet.

Professor James R. Start is the debate coach.

Rush Week

RUSH WEEK—wide-eyed open-mouthed freshmen—curled and ruffled to the utmost—actives weary from worrying and planning weeks before — returning alumnae with their “lines” at topnotch—then panhellenic tea — girls — girls — girls —some timid—some nervous—happy-laughing-excited girls—dean agnew — patronesses — advisors — all brimful of the spirit of the rush week ahead of them—then the rush parties—three each day—and each an event which the dear innocent (?) rushees will never forget —such kindnesses—such courtesies —seemingly a glance at the things the wide eyes had always hoped to see and experience—a variety of entertainment—thrilling speak-easies—fascinating cabarets—courageous pirates—a huge carnival with balloons 'n animals 'n all—a progressive dinner (probably especially to show off the patronesses' homes)—a colonial bridge party

(at the mayor's home)—and a mother goose party (well, that makes a good story)—the six sororities in their glory—actives talking — smiling — boasting of what they had done and what they intended to accomplish—as well as offering assistance—and attempting to be their very kindest in this democratic (?) college—yes—it was an eventful week for the rushees and actives and at the close of it all—following a none-too-silent silence period—the six sororities announced thirty new pledges—the alphas led with eleven and the tri sigs followed with eight—rush week—originating more thrills and young heart throbs—memories of friendships—the dining—and dancing—and teas—and finally the last perfect touch added to an eventful week—bright-eyed rushees pledging their loyalty to their chosen sorority—the end of—RUSH WEEK.

JUDY TO JANE

Jane, dear—

I'm going to write this to you and then duck if I have to go down with the snakes and toads to hibernate.

This term has uncovered a few more great lovers—Bill Haffamier—Bill's own idea of anyone's Adonis, and Luke Lietzke—whom I don't dare to criticize because of untimely results of a few other comments I've made—not to mention Scotty, who loves them and leaves them—or gets left.

And then there was the lad from down east who straggled into Mack's after Homecoming singing, "After the brawl is over." Maybe he was talking about the bugs.

You remember football season, don't you—and all the pepless pep meetings and the icy weather. That was when "Cocky" made his fame—that and the notoriety the Capital furnished him. On the football field or at the breakfast table—he's a hero!

It's interesting to watch some of these romances made—and break. There was Eppstein and Moriarty, Skaer and Stonebraker, Childs and Beckhelm, Winters and Schwartzkopf, and, of course, Bunt and the aforesaid unmentionable who furnished so much material for former columns. Some of these others may not be so exciting after a month or so of listing to Rudy croon, "Absence makes the heart grow fonder," after turning down a date with a good looking such and such from home.

I couldn't stop without mentioning those little parties Dean Lee planned for the freshmen and the ones the upper-classmen actually carried out.

I've gained a title, too, Jane, after nine months of effort. I'm officially catalogued as Public Enemy No. 13 and you'd better watch your step. You've heard, you know, that the pen is mightier than the machine gun.

Dangerously yours,

JUDY

Dearest Judy—

I hope I'm safely home by the time anyone discovers that this isn't an Ivory soap ad. My association with you may prove a bit trying.

You forgot, darling, to mention that blonde (?) that the Phi Sigs took around the first semester. Anyone who can make a dozen hard-boiled whoozits go positively dippy has earned a place in anyone's gossip column.

How both the Winters rated Phi Mu pins and kept it so quiet is more than I know. In fact the whole problem of Phi Mu pinology is too deep for me.

And then there was the beauty queen who turned up the day her coronation was to be announced, wearing colored glasses—to say nothing of rush week when the Alphas ran off with high honors and left the rest of the Greeks to console themselves with that old standby—"Quality and not quantity."

The whole Pan-Hell group is breathing easier since S A I withdrew—just in time to save the shield for further circulation.

I might get a little personal and mention some of the affairs in which Polly has been entangled during the year but I guess I'll give her a break this time, shall I? I won't even mention her red hair—or his.

One question we'll all take home with us is, "What happened to the basket ball team? and why?" Wee Wee thinks they lack size, while someone else suggested that if a vote were taken of all the conference teams to determine the best one of all, there's no doubt that Hays would carry Hays.

And that's dirt enough to make up for all year. Be a nice child.

Scandalously,

JANE.

It's Dress-Up Time at Penney's!

Happy days are here again! Spring's in the air! And—best of all—the new deal you've waited for is here . . . at Penney's! Your big chance has come—to look prosperous, to feel prosperous! Yes, it's dress-up time for every man, woman, and child in town.

Fashion's smiling sweetly at the slim budgets this year. It's true—that impish, expensive-sounding creature has abandoned the high-hat attitude. Everybody's invited to share her favors . . . at the smallest prices in—long, long decades.

Begin today to discard that outworn, out-moded, and tired-looking wardrobe. See what miracles the fewest dollars will perform. Dress up and look out on a new and glorious world. Let your thoughts turn to clothes—and your steps to Penney's . . . where once again
